CONFERENCE MAY DECIDE MATTERS

PRESIDENT TAFT, COL. ROOSE-VELT AND SENATOR LODGE TO MEET.

EVERYONE IS EXCLUDED

Matters of Political Importance to the Republican Party Will Be Discussed—May Bring Forth Statement.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Beverly, Mass., June 30.—What will probably be the most important political conference to be held during the coming six months is in progress at Burgess Point this afternoon between President Taft, Colonel Theodor
Roosevelt and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Mass.

May Settle Policies.

The conference will be purely political and it is expected it will definitely settle the policies of the republican party, particularly the policy that Roosevelt will take in the coming campaign relative to the interests and their attitude.

Everything Private.

President Taft has issued strict orders that no one shall be admitted to the grounds during the time Roosevelt and Lodge are in consultation here and special officers are keeping close watch to see that the orders are strictly obeyed.

Is Far Reaching.

The republican leaders all over the country realize the importance of the meeting today and its significance can not be overestimated. Thus far Roosevelt has said nothing about politics but after today it is expected he will make a statement.

From Nahant.

Nahant, Mass., June 30.—Senator Lodge today gave out definite word that this afternoon the long expected conference between Taft, Roosevelt and himself would be held at Burgess Point at two o'clock.

BOTANIST HOOKER IS NINETY-THREE

World-Famous English Scientist Is Still Active Despite Advanced Years.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, June 30.—Sir Joseph Hooker, the world-famous botanist, received a personal note of congratulation from King George today on the occasion of his ninety-third birthday.
Sir Joseph, who is still remarkably active for a man of his great age, has had a long and brilliant career in his chosen field of science. As early as 1839 he accompanied the expedition of Sir James Ross to the Antarctic region. Later he conducted scientific expeditions to many parts of the world, including eastern Bengal, the Himalayas, the Khasi Mountains, Morocco and the Greater Atlas, New Zealand, Ceylon, and California and the Rocky Mountain region of North America. In the course of his active career he rendered invaluable service to the British arts, manufactures and commerce by promoting an accurate knowledge of the flora and economic vegetable products of the various colonies and dependencies of the empire.

from Ontario show that Canada is in great danger from forest fires. Devila, a village, was destroyed yesterday, and only the arrival of a rescue train saved the residents. Lavallo

FRENCH WORKING GIRLS TOIL AT NIGHT NO MORE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Paris, June 30.—The decree of the ministry of labor prohibiting night work on the part of seamstresses, milliners and other working girls, which became effective today, marks a great forward step in the movement for the amelioration of the condition of the women workers of France. For many years the sweating system has been greatly abused in France, and especially in Paris, where the employees in many fashionable dressmaking and millinery establishments have often been compelled to work until midnight during the busy season.

REAL REFORM TO BEGIN IN CONGO

Plans Formulated By Belgian Ministry And Approved By King Will Become Effective Tomorrow.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Brussels, June 30.—Congo reform for which the governments, churches, missionary societies and other organizations throughout a large part of the civilized world have been working for years, will become an accomplished fact tomorrow, when the plans formulated by the Belgian ministry of the colonies and approved by King Albert will become effective. Simultaneously a large area of the Congo region will be opened to free commerce.

The reforms include the suppression of polygamy, the substitution of native for white officials, a reduction in the taxes which will be collected in money and not paid in labor, and the restriction of obligatory labor on the part of adults to the works dedicated to the improvement of their own conditions.

The most vital feature of the reform program is the provision for the suppression of forced labor, a situation which has rendered possible the terrible conditions which in the past have roused the horror of the civilized world.

Under the Leonid regime the collection of taxes through labor instead of money, enabled that monarch to work his immense rubber trade free of expense. A quota of so much rubber in lieu of taxes, was demanded from each village, an amount which would require the labor of every adult in the village virtually all of his or her time. Failure to produce the allotted portion at the required time was followed by the immediate punishment at the hands of the black soldiers of the Congo Government, consisting too frequently of tortures, mutilation, or death.

surplus of $16,000,000 belongs as a matter of right to the stockholders or whether policyholders are entitled to the larger part of it.

END OF THE EASY JERSEY WEDDINGS

One of the Most Drastic Marriage Laws Yet Adopted by Any State Goes Into Effect Tomorrow.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Jersey City, N. J., June 30.—One of the most drastic marriage laws yet adopted by any state will come into effect in New Jersey tomorrow, with the result that the busy midnight weddings of chorus girls, divorcees, glad girls and intoxicated millions who have been in the habit of crowding over from New York to have the knot tied, will become a thing of the past.

The new law requires that the marriage license be obtained in the place where the bride-elect resides, unless she is a non-resident of New Jersey.
In the latter case the license must be obtained in the home town of the bridegroom-elect. If both are non-residents, the license must be obtained in the place where the ceremony is to be performed. The law provides that before a marriage license shall be issued, the person applying it shall require one of the following to attest the truth of the facts respecting the legality of the proposed marriage, and the license shall be issued only if it is made to appear that no legal impediment exists. The applicant must swear that neither party is an imbe-cile, epileptic or of unsound mind.
The person applying for the license must also be accompanied by an identifying witness who will be required to swear that the applicants are legally qualified to marry.

SOUTHERN STATES MADE HEAVY GAIN

Estimates Show That There Has Been A Gain of 21 Per Cent In Population Since 1900.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, D. C., June 30.—That the census of 1910 shows the southern states, including Missouri and Oklahoma, made a gain in population of 21 per cent since 1900, is the estimate of the southern commercial congress. The congress estimates the population 52,415,297. The gain in other states of the union is estimated at 18 1/2 per cent. The figures are based upon provisional estimates of

GREAT HARVARD-YALE ROWING EVENT, WHICH TOOK PLACE TO- DAY.

Yale Headquarters. Lower left, Coach Wray of Harvard and His Son, At Right, The Famous Yale Rowing
Coach, John Kennedy.

Gales Ferry, Conn., June 30.—The annual rowing event between Yale and Harvard took place this afternoon. Already excitement runs high and a large crowd has been out daily to see the crews in action.
W. A. Melkleham, the old Columbia university oarsman, as usual was the referee. He has served a long time and with entire satisfaction to both Harvard and Yale, and will be asked to continue to officiate as long as he will consent to do so.

This boat for the race was August Belmont's "Sword." The regatta committee's boat was Edward P. Whitney's "Arrow," and the judges' boat was A. Bishop's "Akela." These are the only boats which were allowed to follow the crews in the race.
The rowing cutters Gresham, Mohawk, Acushnet and Seneca arrived on Tuesday and were used to police the courses this afternoon.

Captain Wild, Coxswain King and Mr. Herlick, representing Harvard, and Captain Wodell, Coxswain Fear-burg and Mr. Kennedy, representing Yale, went out in a launch recently with Chairman Chappell of the regatta committee to pass upon the flagging of the course. It was decided that the mile and mile and a half flags had been moved too far out into the stream from the equal shore of the river and that the angle in the course was too large. These flags were moved back a little way.

ASKS COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE

H. L. MAXFIELD FILES COMMUNICATION REFLECTING ON MAYOR OR CHIEF OF POLICE WITH POLICE COMMISSION.

ACTS AS AN INDIVIDUAL

Was Refused Permission of the Council to Take Steps in the Matter on Monday Night Last.

Harry L. Maxfield, the city attorney, filed with Secretary Chas. Hendricks of the Fire and Police Commission, a written communication calling the board's attention to a certain laxity on the part of the Mayor and police head in a case which is specifically set forth. Mr. Maxfield acts as a private individual in the matter and not in his capacity of city attorney and the communication will be given attention by the fire and police commission upon the return of Dr. St. John, its president, who is at present out of the city.

As set forth in his communication, which is printed below, Mr. Maxfield refers specifically to a certain case which he goes into detail to explain. Some days ago Mr. Maxfield took the matter up with Mr. Laughlin, pastor of the Presbyterian church and L. E. Crissey, both gentlemen being interested in the matter of the city. Later he reported the matter to the Gazette and at that time stated that he would handle the matter as a personal complaint, intimating that he had consulted the Mayor and had been refused aid. At this time he signed his complaint directly at Chief of Police Appleby, ignoring the fact that Mayor Wilbur P. Carlo had adjusted the matter personally.

On Monday evening last, at the recess meeting of the common council, Mr. Maxfield asked permission of the council to file such a complaint as he afterwards, yesterday did, with the Fire and Police Commission. This was refused and he went ahead as a private individual. Mr. Laughlin and Mr. Crissey dropped the matter after an investigation, the council refused permission and the newspapers refused publicity to the matter hence the present communication.

One of the features of the case is that the Fire and Police commission has absolutely no jurisdiction over the Mayor. They can act on the complaint against Chief of Police Appleby but can only act on the Mayor to be present and give his testimony and whatever result they may reach would affect the Chief alone.

Mayor Carlo courts an investigation of the matter. He stated this morning that he would appear before the commission most willingly and would give his testimony freely, that he had nothing to cover up in the matter. He also stated that should the public feel that in view of the fact he had appointed several members of the commission, that their opinion might favor him, he would court an investigation by any six men in no way connected with the commission.

Chief of Police Appleby feels that the quicker the matter is investigated the better he will be pleased and also courts a full inquiry. As he is the only person who can be directly affected by the rulings of the board the result in this case will end the matter as far as this specific case goes.

As the matter stands it means that the commission will not act as both the Mayor and Chief of Police and give the affair a thorough probing, but the facts upon the case as investigated last week, verifying that it will be complete exoneration of both officials. Mr. Maxfield's communication is as follows:

The communication follows:
To the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners of the City of Janesville, Gentlemen:—On the 27th day of last April, Chief of Police George M. Appleby appealed to me as city attorney to assist him in ascertaining the character of the keepers of the restaurant at No. 21 North Academy and the nature of the business carried on by them, informing me that the Mayor and one of the board of fire and police commissioners complained to him that they were running a house of ill fame and making illegal sales of liquors. Our investigation resulted in the arrest of the keepers of this place and their plea of guilty was entered in the municipal court, on the following day, to the keeping of a house of ill fame, and was informed by the chief that they had admitted having made illegal sales of liquor. At the same time he informed me that he would close the place, and in about ten days, in answer to my inquiry, he stated that the place had been closed.

On Sunday, June 19th, at about 5 o'clock, p. m., I was informed by Capt. O. N. Ward, a detective from Springfield, Pa., who, I understand, was in this city in the employ of the Mayor and the Good Government League making investigations and furnishing daily reports as to the results of his investigations to the Mayor, that this report at No. 21 North Academy street, was carrying on its infamous and illicit business, which statement I disputed, calling his attention to the statement made to me by the chief of police. He then took me to this place and proved the truth of his assertion.

On the Monday following I informed the Mayor of this situation, stating that the chief of police had not closed this place, and asked him if he would sign a complaint against this officer and file the same with the board of fire and police commissioners, at which the Mayor informed me that he had given these people permission to remain at No. 21 North Academy street until July 1st, but he didn't suppose that they would carry on their former business, and didn't remember whether he had said anything about it or not.

I therefore wish to report this matter to your honorable body, believing that the officers of the city should obey the law as well as any of the citizens.

Respectfully submitted,
H. L. MAXFIELD,
City Attorney.

Dated June 27, 1910.

FRIENDS OUTWITTED NOW PLAN REVENGE

Edgerton Veterinary Slipped Away and Was Married and Friends Will Give Him Merry Welcome Home.

[Special to this Gazette.]
Edgerton, Wis., June 30.—There seemed nothing unusual in the fact that Dr. Joseph E. Johnson, a popular veterinarian of this city, should start out Monday morning with his team, nor did it appear very strange that he did not get back as soon as expected, but when Tuesday came to a close and nothing had been seen or heard from the doctor some few began to mistrust something, and their anxiety was brought to an end by a telephone message between six and seven o'clock last night stating that a former Miss Millie Barry of this city was now Mrs. Joseph E. Johnson. The doctor, it seems, started for Stoughton, Monday, where he was joined the next day by his bride-to-be. They then made the trip to Rockford, and were made man and wife. Of their future plans nothing is known. The friends set to work at once to make his welcome home a merry one. They decorated the front of his office with bunting and old shoes and painted many very appropriate signs on his windows, among which was a verse contributed by a friend to inform the public, which ran as follows:
Let the horses die,
Mills and I,
Have decided to fly.
To Illinois,
Where the light they will fly
For Mills and I.
To play at Whitewater.
The Edgerton Tumbler club will go to Whitewater to play the club of that city a return home, having defeated them in this city last Friday. Edgerton will probably be represented by the following teams: Chas. Cotton and Clarence Johnson, Walter Mabbott and William Bardeen, Lawrence and Lowell Whittey, Wm. and Robert McIntosh, and Adolph and Oscar Jensen. Local items.

SENATOR JOHN W. DANIEL IS DEAD IN VIRGINIA

Oldest Democrat in United States Senate Dies After Continued Illness, of Cerebral Hemorrhage.

Lynchburg, Va., June 30.—Senator John W. Daniel, died here of an attack of paralysis on the right side, the second attack within a few months. There was a cerebral hemorrhage late in the day, followed by complete paralysis, in which condition the senator remained till the end.

This was Senator Daniel's third paralytic stroke. He suffered the first last fall while in Philadelphia and the second in Daytona, Fla., during the winter, having gone to Florida to recuperate. He had not been in Washington for several months. Senator Daniel was sixty-seven years old.

Senator John W. Daniel.

his daughter, Mrs. Fred Harper, whose husband, also here, is Senator Daniel's law partner.

The death of Senator John Warlick Daniel removes the oldest of the Democratic senators in point of service. Of the entire list he was the only one who could be said to belong to the old regime. And, as he was the oldest in service, he was one of the most conspicuous in popular favor.

For the past few years he had remained much in the background. His health had not been good and his growing years seemed to tell on him.

MONROE PATROLMEN MAY WEAR THE BLUE

Common Council is Considering the Adoption of A Uniform For the Police Officers.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., June 30.—The council is considering the adoption of the uniform for the police force of the city. This will mean that "Billie Hunt", now wearing plain clothes and gum shoes, will soon be rigged out in brass buttons and a helmet. The police and fire commissioners, W. P. Drack, George Erwin, R. T. Holcomb, Andrew Trickle and N. B. Trout have adopted a resolution recommending that the police be uniformed and this resolution will be passed on to the council for action. Marshal W. C. Hunt has been appointed chief of police, Norval Mackey patrolman No. 1, and John Mackey patrolman No. 2. No change has been made in the fire department, Joshua Struff continuing as chief, J. C. Blum as first assistant, and G. F. Sickinger second assistant. Spencer Deal and J. C. Hood were appointed to the offices of fire department electricians. They will have the handling of all wires at fires. The police appointments are subject to a medical examination.

F. W. Miller won his suit against the Miller Mfg. Co., judgment in the sum of $96 being awarded the plaintiff. The counter claim of the defendant was disallowed. The court was not sufficiently informed on the matter of the defendant manufacturing a punching machine invented by Miller while with the company, so this matter was left undecided for the present.

The appeal in the Thomas-McCleary estate was taken under consideration. The action was brought about by a residential help against James Root, the administrator, to recover $1,000 and interest for 140 acres of land purchased by him from the estate in 1891 on the ground that his ownership was void under the statute.

The horse will be paced by a motorcycle, and will work several slow miles before going for a record. The fast mile will be paced immediately after the half mile.

Work and Play Each Have Place.

Doctor Elliot, when president of Harvard, used to tell the students to find their pleasure in work. And to work, as real workers have often found, may be quite as much fun as to play. But innocent diversion has its place in the well-ordered life of every human being. Those who have no chance to play are likely to grow up spiritually as well as physically crippled. They have been denied their birthright. Providence never intended that the poorest should toil unrelentingly and the rich should amuse themselves unceasingly.

FOURTEEN DEAD IN KENTUCKY STORM

FORTY-ARE MISSING RESULT OF CLOUDBURST IN KENTUCKY.

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS HEAVY

Houses and Barns Are Swept Away—Many People Homeless—Streams Out of Their Banks—Been Raining Three Days.

Saylorsville, Ky., June 30.—As a result of a cloudburst in Magoffin, Floyd and Knott counties 14 people are dead, and at least forty others are missing. The known dead: Mr. and Mrs. Roach Gayhart and their son Ernest, William Conley, Mrs. William Conley, Mrs. John Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. John Wireman and their three children, Kenton Whitacre, William Bailey, An unidentified woman.

Deaths May Reach Forty.

Twelve of the bodies of the people mentioned in the list of known dead have been secured by the workmen in Saylorsville and the towns affected by the terrible cloudburst. Three others have been reported seen by people in this district. When late reports came in from sections lying near Saylorsville, it was estimated by the people here that fully forty have been killed in the floods and that forty are missing from their homes.

Been Raining Three Days.

Saylorsville is the county seat of Magoffin county which is in eastern Kentucky. There are no railroads running to the town and little else than farming is done in this location. Floyd and Knott counties lie adjacent to this county and have several small towns lying directly on the Licking river and several large creeks which were affected greatly by the downpour. It has been raining in this section for the past three days and the rivers and streams were all full of water when the downpour from the cloudburst broke over this section. Instantly several houses in this section were carried from their foundations and were swept into the streams.

Many of the people in these three counties are homeless as the result of terrible storms. Several lives are believed by the residents of counties to have been lost, besides those accounted for above. The property damage is estimated to be fully $100,000 and the losses in stocks and grains will go to even higher figures. On Middle creek, Floyd county, 30 houses, as many barns and several stores have been washed away. Four railway bridges in that section were also washed from their moorings.

In Knott county, near Hindman and Prestonsburg, 15 dwellings and as many barns have floated away with the waters.

SHARE NORTH DAKOTA HONORS.

Reports Indicate Even Break Between Insurgents and Stalwarts.

Minneapolis, June 30.—Early reports from the Republican primary election indicate the nominations of Senator P. J. McCumber, stalwart, and Congressman Gronna, insurgent, for the United States senate. Congressman Hanna, stalwart, and Helgeson, insurgent, are running ahead for the congressional nominations.

Because of the death of Senator M. N. Johnson during the term, two United States senators will be chosen this year, and each faction has a candidate for office.

Anker, an Independent, is running ahead for the gubernatorial nomination. Indications are that the Insurgents and Stalwarts will divide about evenly the important state offices.

Although a very light vote was cast, the returns are coming in slowly.

MAIL MAN HELD FOR THEFT.

Authorities Charge Collector Opened Letter Containing $74,000 in Notes.

Chicago, June 30.—Richard T. Sweeney, a mail collector and practicing lawyer, was arrested by post office inspectors charged with the theft of $74,000 in notes belonging to W. O. Ford from the mails. S. I. Turner, a negro publisher of the Illinois Idea, was arrested last Friday on a similar charge.

Sweeney is the collector to whom W. O. Ford, president of the Ford Manufacturing company, gave the letter. Instead of delivering it at the post office, the inspectors charge, Sweeney opened it and disposed of its contents.

He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Duell, who set the case for hearing on July 8. Unable to furnish bail of $3,000, Sweeney was locked up in the county jail.

Bryan Arrives in Quebec.

Quebec, Que., June 30.—William J. Bryan arrived on the steamship Royal George from Bristol, England, accompanied by Mrs. Bryan. He appeared in the best of health.

Losing His Senses.

A mischievous boy, having got possession of his grandfather's spectacles, took out the glasses. When the old gentleman put them on, finding he could not see, he exclaimed: "More on me, I've lost my sight!" but thinking the impediment to vision might be the dirtiness of the glasses, took them off to wipe them, when, not feeling them, he still more frightened, cried out: "Why, what's come now? I've lost my feeling, too!"—Ideas.

RULES BIBLE OUT OF SCHOOLS.

Illinois Supreme Court Holds Religious Exercises Cannot Be Tolerated.

Springfield, Ill., June 30.—The supreme court of Illinois has decided that religious exercises consisting of the reading of the Bible, singing and prayer, cannot be held in the public schools of this state during the time pupils are required to be in attendance.

The decision was handed down in the case of the Catholic residents of Winchester, Scott county, who had protested against religious exercises held in the school of that district.

Police Chief Shot in Raid.

No More Free Silver.

Washington, June 30.—The transportation of fractional silver and minor coin by the treasury free of charge was discontinued by the treasury department. Those wanting it hereafter will have to pay the cost of such transportation.

Unhandy Author.

In the course of an earnest appeal on behalf of the royal literary fund at the Whitehall rooms in London, recently, Anthony Hope Hawkins remarked that when a man once got into authorship there seems to be no known means of getting him out of it. Barristers and solicitors, soldiers and sailors, were all handy men. They could turn their energies in half a dozen different directions, but what could the poor author do? Any sensible man of the world would tell them that he was fit for nothing. Could he become a chief constable, could he become a company promoter, could he emigrate and break up virgin soil? No, himself, if he might take a humble example of a working author, had constantly been in the habit of reading the advertisements in the newspapers, and he confessed that he had never seen a public appointment or office which he felt himself fitted to fulfill.

Vanity of Life.

How small a portion of our life it is that we really enjoy. In youth we are looking forward to things that are to come. In old age we are looking backward to things that are gone past; in manhood, although we appear indeed to be more occupied in things that are present, even that is too often absorbed in vague determination to be vainly happy on some future day when we have time.

MUCH WORK YET.
An immense amount of detail will be involved in the task of putting the postal savings bank law into operation. The board of trustees created by the law—consisting of the postmaster-general, the attorney-general and the secretary of the treasury—will have for their guidance the British and other systems, of course, but these cannot be followed very far in any direction since they are fitted to countries whose requirements are peculiar and, in the main, very different from ours.

The manner in which the system shall be inaugurated, as well as the extent to which it shall be put into operation at the beginning, are matters that are left practically to the discretion of the board. There will, it is believed, be a great demand for the opening of banks, but one of the very first requirements of the situation is that rules, simple but sound, shall be formulated for the conduct of the institutions, and that these shall have a preliminary and thorough trying out. It may be found necessary to establish one or more banks which shall take on the character of schools for the training of superintendents and clerks who shall later be called upon to inaugurate the system in different parts of the country. Very likely at the beginning the force required to operate the banks will be recruited largely from the money order, registry and other divisions of the postoffice.

Most of the work of organizing the system will naturally devolve upon the postmaster-general, having established one bank that may be accepted as a model, the rest will be comparatively easy. The postal system as we have it today is the result of the growth of years; the postal savings bank system is something so completely new to this country that we can afford to be patient during its formative period.

MARKING THE ROUTE.
Our pioneers and our adventurous traders have marked nearly every step of their progress with the tin can. Over the Rockies, down through the canyons of the Sierras, the tin-can collection marks the spot where once the prospector worked and dreamed. Our tin cans, it might truly be said, mark the footprints of the advance of the American from New England to Puget Sound, from the Everglades of Florida to Bohring strait, and throughout all of that part of our remarkable history that is indissolubly linked with the tin can. We have hung it aside when emptied and regarded its dumping place rather as a disgrace than an ornament to the landscape.

Of late years our tin cans have penetrated into the utmost parts of the earth. But over extensive areas, especially in the Orient, the American tin can when emptied is no longer discarded like a broken toy, but, on the contrary, is valued for its own sake. Take the Malay peninsula. Consul General Du Bois, at Singapore, tells us in a recent report that of approximately $2,000,000 worth of goods shipped from the United States to this region every year, $800,000 of it comes in tin cans. For example, it requires 1,300,000 one-gallon tin cans to bring the petroleum alone. Thousands of these cans when emptied are used by the natives as water buckets, or they are worked over into other useful household utensils. Hundreds of men are employed in transforming American tin cans into dust-pans, sponges, funnels, pepper and salt casters, coconut and nutmeg graters, lamps, bleach tin, ladles, mugs, cano paddles, money boxes and even ornaments.

Some day, when we shall have become less extravagant and more thrifty, it is possible that we, too, shall gather together all the tin cans scattered throughout the length and breadth of our own country and work the material over, as we are now working over forest stumpage and ore dumps.

Harry L. Maxfield has again jumped into the limelight, this time with a complaint against the mayor and chief of police. Evidently it is not for the first time that the city that the complaint has been filed, but for personal reasons. The verdict of the commission will be awaited with interest, particularly as to the mayor, over whom it has no jurisdiction.

They say that actual work on the paving of Main street is to start at once. It hardly seems possible but the workmen will soon be digging away making this thoroughfare one of the best in the city. Good streets mark the prosperity of a community and especially the main traveled sections of a city.

Two prominent democratic United States senators have passed to the world beyond within the past two days, leaving a void in the upper house when congress assembles next fall. Both men had served in the armies of the south during the late Civil war and both proved themselves to be able statesmen, and the nation united in mourning their demise.

The hotter the weather the more active the politicians. The state contest for the nomination of governor is now warming up and we may expect visits by the score from aspiring applicants for minor state offices. Meanwhile the candidates for county offices are most ambitious and are working with might and main for personal advantage.

Loyalty to Taft is the watchword of Senator E. T. Fairchild's campaign. Rock county has always been loyal to republican principles and they should accept Mr. Fairchild as the only candidate thus far who has endorsed the national republican party and given him their hearty support.

The slogan contest which has been started with a view of aiding in the boosting of the city, is receiving hearty endorsement from all quarters. It is a good plan and should be followed up by co-operation all along the line.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER
By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1903, by George Mathew Adams.)

My temper's an unruly demon, a thing of blood and fire; I'm nearly always busy scheming on how to check my ire. Sometimes a fiery Herakles rages come o'er me, as of some Viking hunt; old men and crumples flee before me, and women scream and faint. Around my home I rage and thunder, and drive the kids to tears, and tear the furniture, and break the chandeliers. I prance around in warlike fashion, and ancient dances agree that when I fly into a passion it's time to climb a tree. My temper is a thing uncertain in both its rise and fall; sometimes it stands a lot of hurtle, and never bucks at all. Not long ago a husky stranger reached out and punched my nose, and in that hour of stress and danger my temper never rose. My temper rose, a half hour later, when I had journeyed home; I bellowed like the raging erator of Aetna, down near Rome. I stormed as though I had the rubies and emeralds of a king; I took it out on my wife and babies, which soothed my martial soul.

FORTUNE TELLERS.

I overheard this:
"What do you think? I had my fortune told today."
"Yes? And what did the woman tell you?"
"Oh, a lot of things! Do you know I cannot help believing there is something in it. She told me I had a fortune coming from the old country, and that's true. I am to take a journey across wide waters. And my life thus is crossed by a great sorrow. And—"
"Let me see—"
"Oh, yes! How absurd! I am to be married twice. A dark haired man and a blond woman are mixed up in my destiny, and an enemy will cause me trouble. The gypsy asked me the date of my birth, and my horoscope shows"—etc.

And both women agreed they had been considerably worried by the babblings of some awfully crooked or the alleged revelations of some palmy reader or sky reader.

Foolish ones!
If one is to judge by the advertisements of the clairvoyants and "psychic palmists" and trance mediums and card readers and solvers of the riddle of the stars, there must be a great host of persons who patronize these modern fables.

Silly tribe of the humanit!
What do these poor mortals, who go on their faking literary about the world and who live from hand to mouth, know about the future?

To be sure, they reveal little of a startling character when you come to analyze their paltry projections.

If you live long enough you are likely to cross some water, if one amounts to anything he will have at least one enemy, sorrow is the common heritage of the race, there are a lot of black haired men and light haired women in the world, and most persons have some sort of fortune coming from overseas.

Is there not trouble enough in front of us without reaching out to borrow some—and pay a good fifty cent piece besides?

Willow patrons!
Now the world has been blindfolded by pretentious folk who, from the days of the witch of Endor, have posed as being able to "summon spirits from the vasty deep"—for a small price in hand paid!

The future is veiled.
And happily so. Nature wisely has hidden from us the forthcoming days.

Do you think for a moment she has revealed her secrets to a gypsy gypsy woman or to some soothsaying peddler of lies?

Let the future be and do not waste the present.

He who tries to peer into the vista of coming time is like the one who goes into a maze, where, as old Omar says, "you come out by the same door where-in you went."

HOME OF PHELPS WHERE SHERIFF HASKINS WAS MURDERED

REAL MAN HUNT FOLLOWS SHOOTING OF SHERIFF. MURDERER SWEARS HE WILL KILL THE FIRST MAN WHO APPROACHES AND WILL SHOOT HIMSELF BEFORE BEING ARRESTED.
Silas N. Phelps, who murdered Deputy Sheriff Emmet F. Haskins. The home in which the tragedy occurred. Diagram showing incidents in the attempted arrest of Phelps.

SILAS PHELPS

Monroe, Bridge, Mass.—State officers from Vermont and Massachusetts are today engaged in a real man hunt in an attempt to arrest Silas N. Phelps for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Emmet F. Haskins. Phelps is a desperate character who has terrorized the community for many years. He has served some time in prison and has often made the statement that he would never be arrested again alive, and that any man who attempted to arrest him would pay the penalty. Sheriff Haskins was the first and there may be other victims before his final arrest is accomplished. Important clues have been developed during the last 24 hours, which have led the searching parties to think he is still within a mile of his home, hidden in the mountains. A systematic search is being made and his arrest is likely to follow at any moment.

The shooting of Haskins occurred when he attempted to arrest Phelps at his home in Kingsley Hill, about a mile and a half from Monroe Bridge. Phelps was employed at the Haskins Paper works, across the state line, in Rousesville, Vt. During an altercation with the superintendent, William P. Haskins, of the paper works, Phelps stabbed him and fled to his Massachusetts home. At once Deputy Haskins of Franklin county was notified and instructed to arrest Phelps. He went at once to Monroe Bridge, where he gathered about him a posse of eight men, and they together went to the Phelps home. The door was locked, but in response to their knocking Mrs. Phelps called to them out of a window, stating that Phelps was not at home. Phelps was home and for him to come down stairs or they would break into the house. Admission was refused and the posse broke in a rear door. Haskins then went directly to the stairway leading to the attic. Opening it, and standing directly at the foot of the stairway, he yelled up to Phelps, telling him to come down and stop his blinding. In response to this Phelps fired a shotgun from the stairway, which resulted in the immediate death of Sheriff Haskins. Phelps in the confusion which followed demanded that the posse leave or he would shoot them all. As they were at a disadvantage in the dark, it being 4:30 in the morning, they allowed Phelps to leave the house and take to the mountains nearby. Immediately searching parties were organized and they have been searching the woods constantly during the last two days, though owing to the desperate character of the outlaw they are working cautiously.

Emmet F. Haskins lived in Charlestown and for the past 17 years had been deputy sheriff of Franklin county. Phelps is 37 years old and has been mixed in one crime or another most of the time since he was first sent to the reformatory at the age of 16. The entire neighborhood is in mourning for the brave deputy sheriff whose life was sacrificed in his attempt to do his duty.

DUCHESS GIVES BIRTH TO GIRL.

Former Anita Stewart Becomes a Mother in London.

London, June 30.—The duchess of Vizeu, who was Miss Anita Stewart of New York, gave birth to a daughter at the residence of the duchess's mother, Mrs. James Henry Smith, on Grosvenor square, London. The duke and duchess, who were married September 15, 1909, have been Mrs. Smith's guests for some weeks. The baby has claims to the title princess of Portugal and royal highness. These titles are delivered from her father's family.

Indiana Furniture Dealers Meet.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 30.—An unusually large attendance marked the eighth annual convention of the Indiana Retail Furniture Dealers' association which was held today in the Chippendale hotel. Mayor Shank welcomed the merchants, and George C. Wyatt of Rushville responded. The president's address by George H. Ollar of Indianapolis was especially interesting. Walter I. Owen of Detroit, president of the National Retail Furniture Dealers' association, delivered the chief talk of the day. The members of the association were entertained at luncheon by the T. H. Laycock Manufacturing company.

TOD MANY WASTE ABILITY

One of the Great Tragedies of Life is the Squandering of Possibilities.

Doing the lower when the higher is possible constitutes one of the great tragedies of human life. To squander money seems a wicked thing when we think of the good that might be done with it; but what about the wicked waste of ability, the deliberate throwing away of 50, 75, perhaps 90 per cent. of one's success possibility, just because he never trained himself to use it, to grasp it with such vigor and power that he can fling his life into his career with its maximum effectiveness?

Most people take hold of life with the tips of their fingers. They never get hold of the life proposition with that grip and tenacity of purpose and vigor of determination which does things worth while. They just hang on the outskirts of things, playing upon the surface of their possibilities without getting down into the marrow of their being where efficiency and power dwell.—Success Magazine.

Work.

Hogges—"I was surprised to hear that Smith had failed. He always seemed to be very busy in his office." Wogges—"Yes; he spent more time in tacking up those 'inspiring wall notices' than any other man I ever saw."—Puck.

Dewey's Valet Causes Stir.

There was consternation in Washington one night recently when it was discovered that Takaguna, Admiral Dewey's valet, had disappeared. That picturesque little band-box Jap is so regular in his habits and in his attendance upon Admiral Dewey, whom he worships, and when he didn't show up for 24 hours, the Washington police were asked to look him up. They located him in the course of a few hours out in one of the suburbs visiting friends, and the little fellow was much amazed when he found that his unusual absence had almost created a panic in the Dewey family.

Honest Insurance Company.

The widow of a man who died in this city last month is profuse in her expressed admiration for the honesty of the company in which her husband carried his insurance. The premiums on the policy fell due on May 1, and the one for the coming year, amounting to $271, was paid on April 16. The insured died at 11:20 on the night of April 30, and as the money paid on April 15 was not actually due until May 1, and the note died 40 minutes before that time, the premium paid in April has just been returned to the widow. The face of the policy, of course, was paid some time ago.—Philadelphia Times.

Kitchener Shown as Man of Tact.

An act of thoughtfulness and courage, performed by Lord Kitchener when in New Zealand, illumines a side of his character which is perhaps too often unrealized. With the excessive generosity of his race, the chief of the Arava tribe of Maoris offered the field marshal a much-cherished sword, given to the chief's ancestors by Captain Cook. Unlike some visitors, who absolutely despoil the Maoris by accepting all the valuable headdresses which the warm-hearted natives press on them, Lord Kitchener, while expressing warm appreciation of the gift, courteously declined to retain it.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

DO YOU allow for the possibility of mistakes or misunderstanding on their part when your friends hurt your feelings in any way?

It seems to me one should.

I am speaking of this just now because the season of wedding and class days has just passed with its host of opportunities for hurt feelings.

"Such a perfectly extraordinary thing has happened. The cards are out for Alice's wedding and so-and-so has not been invited," someone came to me to announce the other day. "I don't believe so-and-so will ever forgive me."

"How she considered the possibility of there being a mistake?" I asked.

"Why, no. Why should she?"

"Isn't she a very dear friend of Alice's?"

"Yes."

"Is Alice the kind of girl who slight her friends?"

"No."

"How many invitations were sent out?"

"Oh, four or five hundred."

"Who addressed them?"

"Why, I think Alice said that her Aunt Jane and her two cousins had offered to."

The younger of the two cousins is an extremely slight, impressionable young person. According to the laws of probability and chance I should say it was just about twice as likely that she should have skipped a name or two as that Alice, who is a most thoughtful girl, should have deliberately slighted a good friend.

And yet I don't doubt what my friend said that "so-and-so will never forgive Alice."

It is absurd.

Among a few hundred invitations isn't it likely that such persons will make one or two mistakes? In fact, isn't it unlikely that they will do anything else?

A mistake of this sort came rather unexpectedly to light in my circle of acquaintance recently when one of the young girl friends of the bride-to-be was not invited to the reception at the home following the wedding, while all the rest of the crowd were invited to both.

A few days before the wedding the bride-to-be called up this girl among others, and asked her to come over and see her wedding outfit. The girl had an engagement that day—really had, for she wasn't the silly kind that would have pretended one—and could not come.

"Well, I guess you can see most of the things at the house the night of the wedding," comforted the bride-to-be.

The girl fortunately had an excess of courage. "But I'm not invited to the house," she gasped.

The bride-to-be was horrified. She distinctly remembered having written the name on the list herself, and it turned out to have been the last one on the page and to have been thus omitted.

In another case my mother received two invitations to a wedding and our next door neighbor none. We felt sure it was simply a most natural mistake of the addresser in writing one name twice and skipping the next, so after due consideration we went to the bride-to-be and investigated. We were right, and the next door neighbor's deeply injured feelings were duly soothed.

So it goes.

It is a wonder to me that brides-to-be make so few errors in their invitation and announcement lists, rather than so many.

So, if any of you happen to have been left out by some one whom you fully counted your good friend, suppose, instead of at once condemning her and making up your mind never to forgive her, you take my advice and give her the benefit of the doubt.

It is absurd.

CARE OF HANDKERCHIEFS.

How to Wash the Bits of Delicate Lace Trimmed Linen.

The careful Frenchwoman takes much trouble over the proper washing of her handkerchiefs and would not more think of having them go into the hands of the family laundress than she would send a piece of household linen to her. Even if they are of the finest material, and they are mostly simple bits of delicate linen embroidered or lace trimmed, they are expected to last their allotted time, and that they shall do so requires that great pains be taken with them. If there is no maid in the little ménage, then maid must do her own washing, and this is the way she goes about it:

In the first place, her handkerchiefs are never allowed to become muddy soiled and after once using are put into a small linen bag that always hangs beside the toilet table. When a half dozen or more have collected they are put to, soak in an earthen bowl filled with cold water and made from the best of washing soap. In this they should remain for half an hour, after which they are carefully rinsed in more cool water. Then comes the thorough washing of them in hot water in which a spoonful of borax has been dissolved. This is done as gently as possible by patting and rubbing, and for this last many women use a child's toy washboard, which is exactly the right size for the purpose. In this way no threads of the fine material are broken, a disaster which is difficult to remedy. The final rinsing is also done through many cool waters until every particle of soap is gone, and then comes the climax of the entire performance.

The handkerchiefs are placed in a bowl of milk into which have been put a few drops of essence of violet, which is strong and of a bluish tinge, and this will give to them the pure white color which is so necessary. From this each is taken and partially dried in a clean towel and at once ironed. No starch is used, for the milk takes the place of that, and the little ironing board is covered first with a heavy flannel and after with a spotlessly clean piece of white cloth.

An iron is kept especially for this work, and usually it is some patented affair, either for electricity or alcohol. To do this all properly will take an hour or more of madam's time, but she is more than repaid for that by the results seen. The little pile of handkerchiefs will come from her hands as if fresh from the shelves of a shop, and they will have the delicate fragrance of having lain in a velvet sachet.

The Business Faculty.

It is discouraging, says a writer on domestic subjects, but it is not very surprising, to note how little business faculty the average housekeeper displays. This is not always because she does not possess it, but because she has not learned the value of business-like methods in the home and so has never developed them. It is lack of development, not lack of capacity. This all belongs to the past—to the time when the man paid all the bills, feeling that their women should not be bothered.

The whole family process is changing. Whether women earn the money outside of the home or whether they are the spenders of their husbands' earnings, the whole trend of the day is to give to them the handling of the household funds. Think of the changes in this regard during the past forty years! Our colleges, through this increasing need, have the important domestic science department, where business methods in the home are taught as thoroughly as ever men were taught. This is a great step in the line of woman's progress.

All this means that a woman should have a stipulated income to work with in her home as surely as though she earned it outside. Of course the young married woman, even though she has studied well, has much to learn, especially if she has never been a wage earner. And this is why she should keep her home on a basis of an allowance. Let her begin her training while her cares are few and learn to manage in an unmasterly manner as possible for two.

One is sure to become careless if all she needs to do is to order supplies while the man of the house pays the bills. It is kind of the man to relieve his wife of all that responsibility—very kind, in a way—but it is not the best way. It should be—it really is—woman's province to run the house, and if she is to develop her powers and make a good wife and mother, a practical housekeeper and homemaker, this is the way to do it. All girls should learn business methods; then if they marry they are ready to share the cares and responsibilities of the money part of the partnership.

Telephone Winds Clock.

Making the telephone set and wind the clock is a novel idea lately patented by W. W. Dean. The hub of the telephone line that, when out of use, is connected to ground at the central office, is in the new system connected to the subscriber's book lover, and reaches ground through a lower contact and the coil that winds and sets the clock. The ground-to-ground circuit has no result. When the clock is to be set and wound a master clock at the proper instant closes a circuit, momentarily switching current from a battery at the central office to ground through the winding and setting coil. The clock is then acted on by the coil.

Frank advertising may attract attention for a few days, but unless it is oddity or outlandish improbability it will not make a lasting impression upon the public mind. A laugh today may develop into a frown of disgust tomorrow. Money spent on frank advertising seldom brings satisfactory returns.

MECHANICAL CHAIR FAN.

Each Movement of Rocker Serves to Make Fan Revolve.

There are several kinds of chair fans, but almost if not quite all of them are of the sort that waves a palm-leaf fan over the head. An Ohio man has invented a revolving fan for connection with a rocking chair that seems to be an improvement on all of them. This revolving fan is held over the head of the person sitting in the chair by means of a curved metal support, hinged down the back of the chair is a driving shaft which connects with a speed gearing under the seat. There are two gears, one large and one small, and a rubber band connects them. As the chair rocks, the large gear turns the small gear, which in turn operates the driving shaft and makes the fan revolve. When the chair rocks backward the rubber band is curved in the opposite direction and the whole movement is reversed. Thus a single current of air is kept up as long as the chair is moving.

GEAR WINDS AS CHAIR ROCKS.

A winding shaft and clutch and a rubber band, the last named operated by rock and pivoted in one of the rockers of the chair. As the chair rocks forward the rubber band is forced one way and turns the gearing, which in turn operates the driving shaft and makes the fan revolve. When the chair rocks backward the rubber band is curved in the opposite direction and the whole movement is reversed. Thus a single current of air is kept up as long as the chair is moving.

As the chair rocks forward the rubber band is forced one way and turns the gearing, which in turn operates the driving shaft and makes the fan revolve. When the chair rocks backward the rubber band is curved in the opposite direction and the whole movement is reversed. Thus a single current of air is kept up as long as the chair is moving.

MAJOR GAYNOR'S DAUGHTER

ELOPES WITH HARVARD GRADUATE.

Harry Kermit Vinut and his bride, formerly Miss Edith Gaynor, second daughter of Mayor Gaynor of New York.

Wilmington, Del.—Miss Edith Augusta Gaynor, second daughter of Mayor Gaynor of New York, and Harry Kermit Vinut, millionaire businessman, clubman and society man of that city, eloped to this city and were wedded by Wilmington's "Marrying Parson," the Rev. Dr. George L. Wolfe of the First Methodist Protestant church, in the office of Andrew C. Gray, attorney-general of Delaware in the Du Pont building.

Accompanied by Mrs. Halstead Swan of No. 153 East Fifty-eighth street, Brooklyn, Mr. Vinut and Miss Gaynor arrived here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. They were met at the Pennsylvania railroad depot by Attorney-General Gray, who is the son of Federal Judge George Gray, and were taken at once to his home.

After luncheon they went to the office of the clerk of the peace in the court house and got a marriage license, for which they had to pay $2.50, a dollar and a half more than the usual fee because both were residents of another state.

In his affidavit before the clerk of the peace, Vinut said he was 38 years old, born in New York, and son of George and Sarah Vinut. Miss Gaynor gave her age as 19 and said her parents were William J. and Augusta Gaynor of Brooklyn. She said Brooklyn is her birthplace.

The license procured, the couple, accompanied by Mr. Gray and Mrs. Swan, went to the private office of the attorney-general.

Memorial day finds the old and young soldiers on the march, and with life and drum in muffled beat and wild thrilling cadences, the tribute to the nation's dead is paid.

Tree day brings the pleasant arboreal planting ceremonies—and nearly always a picnic.

Thanksgiving day has fixed customs and methods of celebrating, though, of late, we have lacked on a football game as a note-maker.

What, then, shall we do with the Fourth of July? Fireworks and firecrackers—guns and cannons and sunken-in-the-grass—all the delightful noise-makers which have marked the day are tabooed. What, then, shall we do with it?

It is not the part of wisdom when bringing up your patriots to let the day sink to Sabbath, calm. It is a day for gaiety and happiness—for the feeling and pride in country and citizenship. It is one of our biggest days, and, shall we do with it?

Why Suffer With Disease?

The Chiropractor Knows a Way For You to Be Well. Why Not Let Him Tell You.

Years of suffering with ailing body, no help possible has made many people skeptical of any claim to conquer disease. I do not blame them, but an earnest desire to be well should at least prompt the sufferer to make an investigation. That's what I ask you to do, come and let me prove to you what the Chiropractic Science, the new way of removing disease, will do for you.

We call it now that it's old. It has existed since the first man needed relief from the first pain, evidence of some unnatural condition. That it is not better known today is the fault of individuals and not of the Science, for it's so plain, natural and sensible that it proves its own case.

If you suffer with any disease; if you have tried medicine, doctors and nostrums; if you feel that your case is hopeless and good health gone forever I offer you a way to be well. What's better still I prove my claims by my work and the words of those who today well and happy thank the wonderful Chiropractic Adjustments by which they are made well are still better proof of my claims. If you are a sick man or woman come to my office and investigate my claims. Is it not worth that effort to know of a certain way to be well and keep well?

FUN CONTINUES AT FIGHT CITY

CROWDS STILL POURING INTO CITY AND FIGHT TALK IS RIFE.

MANY SPORTS ARE "BROKE"

And Watches and Other Jewelry Go To Supply Cops—News From Training Quarters.

In another letter to the Janesville Gazette today, William W. Watt gives further pictures of the scene in Reno just preceding the fight. Last Saturday night in that city was about as lively as any Western town in the early days when the cowboys celebrated the end of the "round-up" and in fact is the roundup of the fight fans of the country. Many of them have spent their last cent at the gambling houses and now the gamblers are getting their "pound of flesh."

Reno, Nevada, June 28. Editor Gazette: It's many a year since Reno has known such a Saturday night as last night. Fight fans by the thousands, all admirers of Jeffries, paraded the streets headed by a band. The town ran riot with fight talk. Hundreds collected on every corner and fought on the coming battle over and over again. Nobody here talks on any other subject. To me it looks as though half of Chicago had found its way into the metropolis of Nevada. The hundreds of wealthy sports now in the field here are going broke early and it looks as though several of them will miss the fight just for the want of the price. The majority of the sports lost no time in getting into the many gambling houses where they played the different games to the limit. Of course they went broke.

Then into the pawn shops they went in droves and for many days after the fight the "thieves" here will reap a harvest. In fact, one of the largest pawn brokers here informed me yesterday that he had $25,000 in cash on hand awaiting the unfortunate. On a $25 watch a man will get about $5 and for this loan he will be obliged to pay ten cents a day interest on every dollar loaned. At this rate the pawn broker will have the watch at the end of fifty days. In the past five years one of the local pawn brokers is said to have cleared over $300,000. Among the notable arrivals yesterday was Jack Glendon. He brought with him the extended mitt, a long line of conversation and that encouraging smile, which always held its place even when Governor Gillett of California decided that his state should be erased from the fighting map.

Glendon came in for the usual Reno greeting but he was too busy to let loose in the gambling houses where the wheel, the bank or the crap tables awaited him with open arms. Glendon made the announcement that the Metropolitan bank in Chicago would begin releasing the certificates for some time Wednesday afternoon. All those who expected to see the fight in El Paso and who want their cash back can have it. Yesterday $12,000 worth of tickets were disposed of in this city to say nothing of the hundreds that were disposed of by telegraph. One entire floor of a local hotel was engaged yesterday for the Australian party which is now en route to this country. In the party are Fitzsimmons and Burns.

Jack Root arrived on the same train with Glendon and after a short visit with friends he was taken out to the arena, which proved of special interest to him as this is the very spot where Hart knocked out Root five years ago. Root was then driven to the Jeffries camp where he and the half hour talk with the champion. Root said the big fellow a compliment on his condition and Jeff accepted it gracefully. He is getting used to these compliments.

If the twenty-two rats of lumber on the outskirts of the city would take on a shape, more like an arena, then most anybody would be satisfied. But it won't look like an arena yet, and unless they show a whole lot of speed it will not look up like an arena for several days to come. Contractors McLaughlin and Walsh of San Francisco declare that they can run up the arena in four more days but Richard says that he does not care to run the game quite so close. Electric lights have been placed all over the grounds and one hundred carpenters are working day and night.

Last evening Glendon was cornered by scores of moving picture spectators who desire to purchase his interest in the moving pictures. He is holding off for a big price and indications are that he will get more than either Richard or Johnson.

Jack Johnson has not been seen in the city since he took charge of his training quarters two miles out. The crowd is looking for him all the time and in spite of his color he is as popular with the fans as Jeffries. The big black man two racing cars with him and it is expected that he will frequently disregard the speed limit laws here. In fact he has been warned by both Glendon and Richard to keep out of trouble until after the fight at least. Johnson is the best natured coon that has ever visited this city and on occasion he is all times a prime favorite with the newspaper men as well as the crowd.

At both the Jeffries and Johnson training quarters gambling devices of every known description have been installed including roulette wheels, faro banks, Klondike games and crap tables. These places have been doing a great business and in spite of the fact that today, Sunday, fully 10,000 people will visit these training camps. The price of everything at these roadhouses has soared out of sight. Both food and drink have mounted to exorbitant prices. At the Johnson roadhouse a small glass of beer cost the purchaser twenty-five cents and eight bartenders are unable to care for the thirsty patrons.

Wine agents representing eastern importing firms are already here in droves and regardless of expense have rented cottages which will be kept open day and night to their friends. One English champagne firm has rented the beautiful home that was loaned by Mrs. Vanderbilt and in it have installed costly furniture. Japanese servants have already taken charge and the corks will pop night and day. By express yesterday one local liquor firm received four hundred cases of imported champagne.

Daily, Reno will become more and more crowded with the fight fans. All arrangements for the reception and handling of the great crowd has been made and it is expected that none will have to sleep on hillside and pool tables, as has been prophesied in certain eastern papers.

WILLIAM W. WATT.

LOCAL BOXER WON CONTEST HANDILY

Jack Ryan Gives Cleveland Youth His Quietest at Fond du Lac Last Night.

Had Jack Ryan of this city, placed the last and deciding wallop, a smashing right uppercut, two inches lower, Jack Burns of Cleveland, whom Ryan checked out in the fourth round of their bout at Fond du Lac last night, might be dreaming yet. As it is, he will need the services of a beauty doctor before his obnoxious organ will regain its former classic outline. Never throughout the entire fight rounds was Ryan in any danger and it was only due to the fact that Burns was a tough youngster that he stayed as long as he did. Time after time in the first rounds, the local lad drove with his right but Burns always managed to escape taking the punch in a vital spot. In the fourth he began to get tired and when he stopped a terrific uppercut with his nose, went down for the count and stayed there until his seconds, seeing that he would take needless punishment if he ever tried to regain his feet, tossed a towel into the ring.

Ryan was originally scheduled to meet Martin Pludo of Marinette in the semi-final, to the Gavilan-Brown go, but Pludo was suddenly taken ill, a violent attack of gold fever, and Burns, who is Tommy Gavilan's sparring partner, was substituted although he weighed well toward 140 pounds. Four bouts were scheduled but the extreme heat kept down the attendance and for a time it looked as though the whole show would be called off.

Fond du Lac's sporting blood then came to the rescue and with the consent of the crowd, it was decided to stage the whittling alone. Not satisfied with this, the fans, who wanted to see Ryan in action, contributed generously to a fund started by Mike McGroarty of Oaklawn, and made up a good sized purse for the preliminary scrap.

Tommy Gavilan, the elongated lightweight from Fond du Lac was given the decision over Kid Brown of Chicago at the end of eight rounds of furious mugging but it seemed to be the general opinion that a draw would have been about right. Gavilan, who is six feet tall and can reach half way across a sixteen foot ring, faced in Brown, an opponent who is diametrically opposite. During the first four rounds, Brown kept boring in, working nimbly for the body with an occasional swing for the jaw. At the end of the fourth he had Gavilan groggy and, although the Turk claimed a foul, only the bell saved him from a knockout.

Gavilan came back strong in the final sessions, however, using a left jab to advantage but both he and the Greek were tired at the sound of the first round. Brown's showing in the first rounds and the fact that he put his opponent in the last twelve called for a draw at the last. The crowd, which was pulling for Gavilan throughout, was well satisfied with referee George Doherty's decision, but less prejudiced critics thought an even break would have been fair.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

E. H. RANSOM.

I wish to announce at this time my candidacy for the office of sheriff of Rock county on the Republican ticket at the coming primary election which takes place in September next. My friends have been insistent that I again make the campaign and looking back at the results of the past few elections I feel that there are many voters who will tender their support in my cause. I believe there is little need for introduction to the people of Rock county other than to say that I have been a resident of La Prairie all my life and to also say that should you see fit to favor me with nomination and election I shall devote my best energies to the conduct of the office to the satisfaction of the public.

We have sold different grasers from one to two dollars a gallon, yet nothing does better work at any price than this: take one gallon of kerosene, mix as you want it to use, spray or put on with a brush. Keeps off flies, bats, grubs, is healing, antiseptic, and costs about 45 cents a gallon instead of one dollar or more. ## FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, June 30, 1870.—Jottings.—With this number of the Gazette the present local editor closes his labors on this journal, he having disposed of his interest in the same. Six years and a half ago the late of July, Daniel Wilcox came to Janesville to assume the duties involved in a part ownership of the Gazette. An entire stranger to the people of the city and county, we naturally approached the work with some misgivings. But whatever of fears we may have entertained in the outset they were soon banished.

The great game of base ball between the Amateurs and the Mutuals of this city will positively take place on the Fourth. The Amateurs are one of the finest amateur organizations in the northwest, and the game promises to be the most exciting and well contested match that has ever taken place in our city. After the game the visitors and our time are going up on the "Great Western" to spend the evening at the Springs.

It's the driest kind of picking for cattle in this vicinity. The pastures are as brown and bare as in child November.

The fire steamers were out last evening to wet down the park. For some reason the rotary did not come into the work very handsomely, and after vainly trying for a time to get up a proper head of steam, she retired from the field. The plunger worked in a most satisfactory manner, and the copious streams that she threw, will have the effect to save many of the trees and impart new life to the parching grass.

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Shadow Thieves

"If you're leaving all the say-so to me," grinned Teddy Bear with a wink at Willy and the twins, "I say let's play some tricks!"

"Here, too!" chimed in the Wishy-mouse. "We did enough good last night, Uncle Tick, to last a week. We'd better let off steam now by playing jokes on people a while."

The Ticklemouse sighed. "Well, what's your scheme, Teddy?"

"Steal folks' shadows," answered the Bear. "Each take a pair of scissors and hide in a dark alley. Then when folks come walking along, each one tagged by his own shadow, we can reach out with the scissors and snip the shadows loose from their heels. In the morning when they wake up they won't have any shadows and people will think they are bewitched!"

"Oh, you Teddy!" The merry mice threw back their heads and laughed till they almost cried. The twins lost no time finding all the scissors in the house. There were only four pairs, so Willy took Davy's jackknife, and they started down the alley back of Main street.

Pretty soon the Mayor himself, a fat, pompous old fellow, came strolling along, smoking a plump cigar and looking up at the sky. He had got so in the habit of this in the days of the comet that he hardly ever watched his feet when he walked out nights.

Snip—snip! The Mayor jumped and looked around when Teddy's scissors clicked behind him, but the Bear was too quick for him. He jumped back into the dark alley with the Mayor's fat shadow under his arm, carefully rolled it up and tied a string around it. The Mayor walked on none the wiser.

Next came tall, skinny old Miss Doverville. Three of its citizens were walking around without any shadows. The dogs noticed it first, then the small boys. And soon the Mayor, the Dressmaker and her little nephew were out with all the policemen in town, trying to find their stolen shadows.

Davy and Dorfy had never had a bigger lark. But the biggest fun of all was yet to come. Willy, always full of mischief, had thought up a little scheme of his own when the Ticklemouse had made him return the shadows next evening; and instead of being better, a bad matter was made worse. For the Mayor found to his great rage and dismay that, although he had a shadow again, it was not his shadow. Fastened to his heels, tagging him all about the town, was the comically skinny shadow of Dressmaker Seams.

The Ticklemouse soon heard about the new trouble, and made Willy go around and set things to rights as soon as it was dark. But all that long day, the Dressmaker was even angrier than the Mayor, for her new shadow was very short and fat, and didn't fit her at all. It was little Johnny's shadow, for little Johnny had been by the broad, fat shadow of Doverville's pompous mayor.

attached several times, his salary as mayor seized by creditors and now he is on trial in the superior criminal court charged with libeling the editor of another paper.

Usually the editorials in Mayor Howard's paper, the Salem Dispatch, have been considerations of subjects pertaining to the material or political interests of this city. Yesterday's issue was void of editorials and in place was published the following lines:

Dark in this world: my sun gone down,
No star of hope for me to rise!

The face of all things wears a frown,
Or on the earth or on the skies.

Go on, un pitying world, go on—
Pour all thy vengeance on my head

And when the cup's last dregs are gone
I, then, shall have no more to dread.

Long have I toiled to live—in vain,
For life is naught, devoid of rest;

Long struggled with the strife for fame
Long kept my sorrows in my breast.

Why was I made; or why thus born,
The sport of every wayward gale?

Launched on an ocean dark, forlorn;
A leaky, shattered, crazy sail.

Without a compass or a guide,
Without a rudder in a storm,

Without an anchor—where to ride,
And chased around in every storm;

No home, no haven, where to steer;

Divorce Trials.

In Vienna nearly all divorce cases are open to the public, and the decision in every case is given out in open court. Publication of divorce cases in St. Petersburg is penal offense. Paris allows no publication, thus publishers $20 to $500. All Brussels cases are heard in private. In Switzerland the court says whether or not there shall be publication. Everything in Holland is on the quiet; same thing in Madrid.
